Reviews

Complete guideline for publication fans. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

Excerpt: . . . that there is now greater latitude allowed litigants, in that respect, in the Md, Opinion of the Court. Courts of this State than was formerly the case either here or in England. In Kent v. Riards, 3 Md. Ch. 395, the Chancellor quoted with the approval from Henck v. T odlzunter, 7 H. 8: J. 275, that by the law and practice of the Courts of this State a party might appear either in propria persona or by attorney. The eleventh equity rule adopted by this Court (now sec. 126 of Art. 16 of the Code) by clear implication authorizes an appearance in propria persona. Rule 52 (sec. t66 of Art. 16) permits the party himself to sign a petition for a rehearing of decrees or decretal orders. Rule 49 (sec. 186 of Art. 16) expressly allows parties to agree in person to a special case stated; and other instances might be given. The second rule of the Court of Chancery provided that any petition or writing filed and addressed to the Court, certified as therein stated, shall have the same effect as if signed and filed by a solicitor or delivered by the person to be filed. Alexanders Ch. Pr. , 366. That rule has in substance, been adopted in Baltimore City and many of the counties. It may not always be good practice, but it is undoubtedly true that papers of a more formal character than exceptions to sales are now often...
